

Wildbelly
Fermentation Fest
Mancos, Colorado

The Wildbelly Fermentation Fest is a gathering to celebrate the magic of microbes. Through education and hands-on learning we aim to make fermentation approachable and inspire others to connect with the cultures that transform simple ingredients into something extraordinary.

The festival will take place Nov 7-8th in Mancos, CO and we have a wonderful lineup of teachers. Kirsten K. Shockey, a bestselling author of many fermentation books will be joining us as well as local food artisans from Luv Tempeh in Durango and Pueblo Seed & Food in Cortez. We'd love to have you as a sponsor of this festival promoting the value of fermented foods in our region. Your sponsorship is tax deductible.. Thank you!
